CHAIRMAN of Nottinghamshire County Council John Allin attended a ceremony to mark the transformation of Church Warsop's war memorial on Monday.

War veterans from across the area honoured the unveiling of the memorial — which has been restored to its former glory thanks to funding from the county council's Building Better Communities (BBC) initiative.

The Grade-II listed memorial, on Church Road, dates back to around 1920 and commemorates those who lost their lives in the two world wars.

Paving and railings around the feature have been replaced and the wall has been restored as part of the £20,000 scheme.

Coun Allin told Chad: "The BBC initiative has already spent £100,000 in Warsop, and other schemes are planned in the town this year which will help regenerate the area by improving its appearance."
